

THE BOO DEVILS

· I WON'T MARRY YOU ·

(Letra y Música: J.M. Mora)

HE

Let me tell you a funny joke
Well, If you still believe in love
Once I met a pretty girl
Among the junk jewelry, a true pearl
And we began a true romance
But it became a piece of tat
Don't trust in love till the end of time

SHE

I tried to have a look
Where the sidewalk ends
Where the street won't bend
HE
Better said, you've dug a deeper hole
To bury my male livin' corpse
BOTH
The ol' shaggy-dog story!

SHE

Let me tell you a funny joke
Well, If you still believe in love
Once I met a handsome man
The dreamy cool cat greaser in a sedan
And we began a true romance
But he hardly left the garage
Don't trust in love till the end of time

HE

I tried to write a storybook
Where we redraw the game
Where we're being more than friends

SHE

Better said, you scrawled a comic strip
To demonize me as Adam's rib

BOTH

The ol' shaggy-dog story!

BOTH

I tried to keep the twinkling flash
To avoid a better half
Turns into a knick-knack
But daily life is die-hard
Time opens your eyes
Love stops being blind

THE BOO DEVILS

© 2016. Todos los derechos reservados

www.theboodevils.com

THE BOO DEVILS

SHE

He's a skunk

HE

She's a punk

SHE

He's a faux

HE

She's a squawk

SHE

You're my sweet

HE

You're my song

SHE

Oh my!

BOTH

Sometimes things don't flow at all

In a cool and easy way that you want

'Cause we are Rock N' Roll!!

BOTH

Let me tell you a funny joke

Well, If you still believe in love

Maybe I'm wrong, maybe I'm right

No happy ending till the end of time

You better run. Don't stay in line

Although in fact, don't give a damn

SHE

Oh! You sure, honey?

HE

Pretty sure, darling. I'm stuck on you from head to toe!

SHE

You're so kind, sweetheart!

HE

Anyway, we both know...

BOTH

I won't marry, I won't marry, I won't marry you

Again...

THE BOO DEVILS

© 2016. Todos los derechos reservados

www.theboodevils.com